What is the World Parliamentary Assembly (WPA) anyway? And why should I care?

by lefemmerouge

Summary

I originally published this on Google Docs, on January 19, 2020. I recently revised it, but it is relatively the same as when I first published it. I started working on it in November 2019 and worked on it until January 2020. The version here is what is also on Squidge World, where I posted this in early January of this year. Links to Squidge World works have been changed to AO3 links when this was posted here. Some text has been slightly revised from that version, along with fixing strange capitalization in the original title.

Notes

This document was originally linked in my fic "Marcy's 'Revenge,' Cleo's Newfound Freedom, and the Beach City Dance Party" which came out in late July 2020, the series finale of my series, "An Unlikely Alliance Against Evildoers." This has also been posted on the Internet Archive. The version on the Internet Archive does not have the changes shown in this document.

In my aforementioned fic I referred to this document in jest, saying: "The day of the concert, October 8, 2020, had arrived. People and all beings celebrated it around the world as a day that those women who loved other women, in whatever form they came in, whether Gems, humans, or something else, came together, whether in the Principality of Eastern Australia, the Indigenous Republic of Aotearoa, or the Unified Australian Islands. Those in any of the other 74 nations across the world, listed in the WPA Information Bureau's absurdly named pamphlet, "What is the World Parliamentary Assembly (WPA) anyway? And Why Should I Care?," proudly commemorated the day, while some bigoted people grumbled."

Background

On June 12, 2019, it was decided that the countries of the world should be united into a World Parliamentary Assembly (WPA), herein the Organization, to ensure any external threat could be faced together. The world looked like this when it was decided that the Organization would be formed:

The borders of countries remained the same one year later.

Drawing up the WPA Charter and Headquarters

To honor the wishes of the original creators of the Organization, back on June 12, 2019, it was decided that Beach City would serve as the headquarters of this new organization. With that established, the task of drawing up a charter for the organization was of profound importance, leading to the creation of the WPA Charter Committee, otherwise known as WCC. This charter serves as the basis of the Organization in its current operations and various committees and organs which allow it to function for the betterment of all those on the planet. On November 3, 2019, 77 countries of the world had signed and ratified the WPA Charter.

The World Divides into Blocs

Unfortunately, this unification didn't last very long. A number of blocs formed: The Socialists (25 states, about 32% of all the states), the Republicans (24 states, about 31% of all the states), the Neutrals (18 states, about 23% of all the states), and the Royalists (10 states, 14% of all the states). Some commentators state that the Socialist and the Republican blocs dominate most WPA discussions, with those states which are "Royalist" or "Neutral" serving as swing votes they tried to bring in. Whether this is true or not, it is worth outlining the existing blocs with the following maps to assist the reader in comprehending this subject:

Challenges faced by the WPA

In the early days of the Organization, some members moved to arrest the heady criminals known as A.C.M.E. and imprisoned them in Antarctica. The fate of these criminals was decided by the newly created A.C.M.E. Analysis Committee, or AAC, with participation of all countries. One of the next WPA initiatives was to create new time zones, with cooperation between these blocs, a grand achievement for the Organization.

End Notes

I admit that these maps were surely shaped by my own views, and ideologies, at the time when I put this together, originally, back in 2020, and that I'd do something different. This map is based upon the map for the Steven Universe series shown various times throughout the series, I just adapted it for the purposes of this fic.
